Summary judgment issued in suit against Bay St. Louis

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The city of Bay St. Louis has been cleared of blame in a false arrest suit filed in federal court by Michael Anderson.
A motion for summary judgment was granted by Senior United States District Judge Lansing Mitchell, which effectively dismisses the suit against the city, according to Bay Mayor Victor J. Frankiewicz Jr.
Other named in the suit are South Central Bell, three South Central Bell employees and Robert Butler, former Bay St. Louis police officer.
Charges against Butler have also been dismissed.
In the lawsuit, Michael Anderson claims he was falsely arrested, slandered and defamed.
While investigating a report of missing telephones, South Central Bell employees Dan Hill and Bill Norris initiated a public records check of the plaintiff, who was listed in their records as Donnell M. Anderson.
"Norris provided Anderson's birthdate and social security number from employee records," Norris, who entered the records in the National Crime Information Center.
A NCIC report stated Dale Edward Anderson, alias Nick Donnell, a white male with the same birthdate and social security number as the plaintiff was wanted for a number of felonies.
According to the judgment, Norris then said he did not believe the man in the NCIC report was the same Anderson who worked for South Central Bell, because Anderson had been an employee for several years and had been working at the time some of these crimes in western states occurred.
Butler said because of the similarities he should discuss the report with Anderson.

According to Butler, he then drove to Anderson's house and Anderson consented to go back to the police station.
The plaintiff was released into his attorney's custody after being questioned about the contents of the NCIC report, the judgment stated.
Butler later determined the plaintiff was not the same Anderson and reported to his attorney that Michael Anderson had been cleared of any charges.
Judge Mitchell said in the judgment "there is no question that Officer Butler had probable cause to bring the plaintiff to the station for further investigation" if the social security numbers matched.
The judgment also stated "it is clear from the record that plaintiff has no defamation claim against Butler or Bay St. Louis."
Frankiewicz said this "is another one down in the backlog of lawsuits against the city which were pending when I came in office."
"I am pleased that we have been dismissed from this suit without having to cost the city any money," he said.
"It is important that the city continue to defend these frivolous lawsuits aggressively so that we are not made the target of lawsuits in the future," Frankiewicz added.
He also said with the settlement of this suit, the number of lawsuits against the city is reduced to three.
These include a $200 million lawsuit filed by residents in the annexed area, a Robert Butler discrimination suit and a zoning dispute suit filed by a company which was unable to get necessary zoning to build low-income houses in the Washington and Drinkwater Street area.

Should second homes be taxed 10 percent?

County to request opinion on residential assessment

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is seeking a state attorney general's opinion regarding whether a second home is considered an owner-occupied residence.
The request for the opinion was prompted by a Louisiana resident's complaint that his property, a single family residence in Hancock County, is still being assessed at 15 percent of its value.
George Ledrech addressed the supervisors with the complaint Thursday, stating he was representing several other property owners as well as himself.
Ledrech told the board he believed the Hancock County Tax Assessor and Collector's office had been operating under old guidelines from the State Tax Commission at the time his tax bill was calculated last summer.
Last year, the Mississippi Legislature passed a law that reduced the assessment on an owner-occupied residence from 15 percent of the home's value to 10 percent.
Tax Collector Edward Murtagh said the assessment on Ledrech's property was based on "the intent of the law" and he contends a second home can not be classed as an owner-occupied residence.
Board of Supervisors Attorney Gerald Getz said he feels an opinion from a state attorney general could clear up the matter.
He said he would write for the opinion and have the letter mailed by Monday at latest.
Murtagh said that even if Ledrech's property should be assessed at 10 percent, his complaint was filed too late for any refund this year.
However, if the attorney general's opinion indicates second homes are classed as a single-family residence, he can expect a lower tax on his property next year.

The tax collector also stated if the correct assessment on second homes is 10 percent, the county could lose a significant amount of revenue.
In other business Thursday, the board:
—Placed on its minutes an announcement by Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson reporting the county's new Criminal Justice Facility will be dedicated March 20;
—Hired John Fowler as jailer to replace Russell Watts, who will become the jail's food service supervisor;
—Discussed but took no action on a proposal that the Bay St. Louis Police Department's dispatching operation be moved to the new jail;
—Authorized Jeff Taylor of South Mississippi Planning and Development District to submit the names of the supervisors as possible members for a panel which will select a proposal for a private hotel-restaurant development at Bucan-ASSESSMENT—Page 3A

Leak not expected to delay move to new jail

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
A leak in the roof at the new Hancock County Justice Facility is not expected to delay the move for the currently overcrowded sheriff's office.
Architect Fred Wagner said the leak was not actually in the roof but at the connection point of one-story sheriff's office roof and the two-story jail walls.
"We are not exactly aware of what is causing the leaking but it is just a matter of checking the different possibilities to learn what the problem is," Wagner said.

Roofing contractor, Anning-Johnson Inc. of New Orleans previously sent an employee to determine the cause of the leak but this worker was killed in an accident in New Orleans.
Wagner said the contractor will be sending another worker to again determine the cause so repairs can be made as soon as possible.
Because of natural ability for expansion and contraction built into the building, there may be an eighth of an inch separation at times but this is covered with sheet metal, he added.

"Wind may be driving the rain up in the folds of the sheet metal at this connection point or the water may be coming in where the metal is caulked," Wagner said.
"To us in the business, this is no big deal and should not be difficult to repair," he said.
"There is nothing wrong with the roof and the repairs should not delay the move," Wagner stated.
The only damage was to a few ceiling tiles, Wager said.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson also said the March 20 move into the new facility will not be postponed.

Joiner to visit county to discuss Highway 603

BY DENA BISNETTE
Southern District Highway Commissioner Bob Joiner will visit Hancock County Wednesday to talk about Highway 603.
Joiner said Friday that he has an announcement regarding the highway, but declined to provide any information regarding his statement.
The commissioner will make that announcement at 2 p.m. in the Hancock County Courthouse.
On Tuesday, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce board voted to renew its push to have 603 four-laned and to make that effort a top priority for this year.
That vote was taken following four deaths on the road, one that occurred Friday evening between Tigra Street and Avenue B and three which occurred on Saturday night near Hancock North Central School.
Last year, Joiner had promised the supervisors he would look into the possibility of four-laning the road. In addition, the State Highway Department has added turning lanes at Stearns Airport and several of the more heavily used intersections.
Also on Friday, Joiner said he plans to support efforts to keep the legislature from taking the seawall tax away from the three coastal counties.
"I will fight and oppose anybody who wants to take the seawall tax away from any of the coastal counties."

The commissioner said he is disturbed by recent newspaper accounts implying that he favors highway bills containing provisions which would take away the seawall tax.
He said a highway bill that passed in the senate Tuesday passed without the provision to remove the seawall tax.
"I was instrumental in getting the senate to take that out," Joiner said. He said he feels the seawall tax is particularly important to Hancock, Harrison and Jackson Counties because those counties face many situations others do not need to cope with, including hurricanes.

"I'm also opposed to blackmail legislation, where something is held over a legislator's head make him vote a particular way on a bill," the commissioner added.
"The legislators should vote for what they see as right. They shouldn't be forced into anything."

Bay mayor seeking information about stolen warning lights

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Bay St. Louis city officials are asking citizens to be on the lookout for persons responsible for taking battery operated safety warning lights from the streets.
"Every warning light we have put out to caution motorists in the past few months has been stolen, sometimes overnight," said Bay Mayor Victor J. Frankiewicz.
This has gotten to be a real problem because the safety lights are being stolen from construction sites and problem areas in streets, he said.

"Aside from the cost of replacing the lights, the lack of these lights makes it dangerous to drive at night because a motorist is not warned of problems in the street," Frankiewicz said.
"It is particularly bad now because of all the bad weather. Repairs cannot be made as fast and more problem areas are being left uncompleted overnight," he added.

one day but when the ground is so wet, dirt will not set up and we cannot do asphalt repairs very efficiently," Frankiewicz said.

There are a lot of repairs around town that will have to wait until the weather improves, he said.

"But because of continuous theft of warning lights and signs, it is increasingly difficult to warn the public of road hazards," Frankiewicz said.

"We are encouraging anyone spotting a person taking these lights or anyone who knows someone who already has one of them to contact the police department," he added.

"Taking these lights can end up getting someone killed," Frankiewicz stated.

"In the meantime I want to encourage the public to be particularly cautious especially around construction sites in the streets," he said.

Frankiewicz said a number of these construction sites are in the annexed area. A section of Green Meadow Road and various other isolated locations is included.

"Meanwhile we at the city are going to continue to barricade and place all the warning signs possible but because of the continued disappearance of the signs, the public needs to be extra cautious," he said.

Frankiewicz added the city is not alone facing this problem but it has become a real safety issue because of all of construction and rain.

The contractor on the Central Avenue project also had problem with the signs being stolen, he said.

Three capital murder trials included on circuit court docket for next week

Judge Kosta Vlahos will preside at the capital murder trials against Freddie Rodriguez, 14, of Pearlinton, Richard Allen Ryan, 31, of Bay St. Louis and William Anthony Bowden, 45, of Bay St. Louis included on the docket for the three-week circuit court term to begin Monday in Hancock County.

Rodriguez is charged in the Aug. 19 stabbing death of a neighbor, Eldora Summers, 69, of Pearlinton. Ryan is charged with capital murder in the connection with the Oct. 21 death of Catherine Ducote Vizzini, 35, of Clermont Harbor.

Bowden faces charges in connection with the death of T. C. Jones, a Diamondhead businessman. Jones was reported missing Sept. 12 and his body was found 11 days later in a wooded area of the buffer zone.

Also included on the docket are 24 burglary charges, six grand larceny charges, five charges of prescription forgery, four drug charges, two charges of rape, two of sexual battery and one of fondling.

ETV Brief

"Farmweek" will review the conservation reserve program, a government program which allows farmers to leave highly erodible cropland idle for ten years, at 7:30 p.m., Monday, March 9, on Mississippi ETV.

This conservation program pays for half the cost of establishing a cover crop, either grass or trees, on the land. Also, in return for not farming the land, the farmer receives an annual rental fee based on competitive bidding.

"Farmweek" reporters will travel to Madison County, which has the highest rate of acres already signed into the conservation reserve program, to talk with farmers and conservation reserve program, to talk with farmers and conservation officials about the benefits of the program. They will discuss the possible ramifications for farmers and the timber market ten years from now when the idle cropland is converted to cultivation again. New figures will be released on the fourth sign-up period which ends before this edition of "Farmweek" airs.

Also on the program, Extension ruminant nutritionist Darrell Johnson will talk about how dairy and cattle producers can prevent grass tetany in their herds.

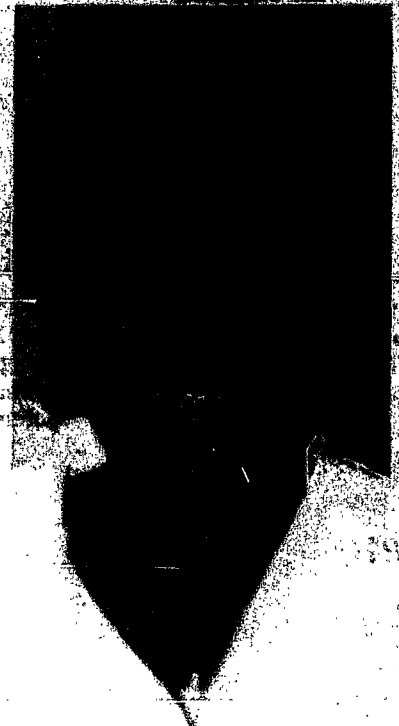

The series is co-produced by Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Apr. 8, 1928-Feb. 28, 1986

When I must leave you for a little while,

Please don't grieve and shed wild tears

And hug your sorrow to you through the years,

But start out bravely with a gallant smile;

And for my sake and in my name Live on and do all things the same.

Feed not your loneliness on empty days

But fill each waking hour in useful ways.

Reach out your hand in comfort and in cheer

And in turn will comfort you and hold you near.

And never, never be afraid to die For I am waiting for you in the sky.

Bay-Waveland school board approves architect's contract

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board has formally agreed to enter a contract with architect Fred Wagner for preparation of a district building program.

The board voted unanimously Thursday night to approve the $2,460,000 contract, with board member-elect Charles Benvenuti participating in discussion but not voting. Benvenuti actually takes office next week.

The district's total bond request will be $3,483,996, Superintendent of Education Roger Oge told the board.

The request breaks down into $2,460,000 for the architect's contract, $168,296 for an architectural fee of 6.76 percent of the total cost of the project, $632,600 for work excluded from Wagner's contract, $196,800 in contingency funds, $16,000 for the bond attorney and $12,000 for the services of Board Attorney Lucien Gex.

Oge added that the attorneys' fees are still being negotiated and could be reduced.

The work included in the architect's contract includes $1,560,000 at Bay Senior High School for 22 classrooms and support facilities, covered walkways and bus-loading areas and a new building housing physical education, band, and auditorium facilities.

$540,000 is included at Bay Junior High School for climate control in both the main building and the S.J. Ingram Building, electrical and lighting work, complete restrooms renovations, repair of plaster on walls and covered walkways.

About $50,000 of the work planned at North Bay Elementary is included in Wagner's contract. That will consist of reorganization of administration, library and teacher's lounge facilities, restroom renovations and additions, widening covered walkways and $12,000 in electrical work.

Waveland Elementary work included in the architect's contract consists of eight classrooms with restrooms and covered walkways for about $310,000.

An estimated $312,000 of the work planned at Bay Senior High is not included in Wagner's contract. The excluded work proposed includes drainage, air conditioning, roof repair, relocation of a parking and service road and addition or replacement of various types of school furniture or equipment.

Work excluded at the junior high includes repair of flooring in hallways and stairwells, drainage repair and campus improvements, painting and resealing windows and addition or replacement of student furnishings. The work is estimated at about $107,000.

$154,000 at North Bay, including window repairs, painting, replacement of floor coverings, drainage, enlargement of the existing parking area and adding furniture, is also excluded.

At Waveland Elementary, enlargement of the parking area, additional furnishings and drainage improvements totalling about $59,000 are not part of the architect's contract.

The board has not yet acted on the bond proposal itself, other than to take the matter under study.

Oge had originally recommended that the board approve contracting with Wagner for $4,000 for services through the schematic diagrams needed to pass the bond issue, but Wagner said he could not do the work for that amount without some assurance that his contract would be continued if the bond issue is approved.

In addition, Wagner explained that the percentage fee is based on a sliding scale and could be reduced if the scope of the project increases.

Benvenuti stated that he has become concerned about time constraints, and feels they need to be built into the contract.

At present, the project is expected to take eight to nine months for completion of the architect's work after the bonds are sold, Gex explained.

Gex said the millage it will take to pay off the bond issue will probably amount to 5.7 or 6.3 mills, but will probably not increase taxes.

The district had expected to drop some millage at the end of this year after shortfall loans are repaid, and could simply replace this with the bond issue millage.

Because the amount of the bond issue millage is less, the taxes could go down, Oge said.

In other business, the board discussed but took no action on an offer from the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for sale of the Hancock General Hospital building for $250,000; held three student hearings in executive session; and completed evaluation of Oge in executive session.

Waveland's Wastewater finalist in outstanding facility in state for 1986

The city of Starkville's Wastewater Treatment Facility has been selected as the "Outstanding Wastewater Treatment Facility of 1986" in Mississippi by the Mississippi Water Pollution Control Association. Starkville will be recognized for its outstanding contributions to the cause of water pollution control at award ceremonies on April 9 during the Association's annual meeting in Jackson.

Starkville was one of seven nominees for the award. The other nominees were the city of Cleveland, city of Natchez, city of Waveland, Camp Shelby, Columbus Air Force Base, and Travenol Laboratories, Inc. of Cleveland.

Starkville, Waveland and Camp Shelby were selected as finalists prior to Starkville's being named the recipient of the prestigious award. The nominees were named and evaluated by a committee comprised of representatives of the Mississippi Water and Pollution Control Operators Association, and the Bureau of Pollution Control.

The annual award recognizes outstanding operational efforts and accomplishments. To be nominated for the award, a facility must demonstrate outstanding achievements in the following categories: compliance with state and federal permit conditions, operational skills, equipment maintenance, housekeeping and grounds maintenance, training of personnel, promotion of operator training and certification, safety, records and reports, and budget and resources management.

Krewe of Triton

Parade route

Quotables by CUEVAS 99

"Rain, rain, go away, come again another day," is popular thinking with all of the Mardi Gras parades scheduled for the next few days.

St. Paul's annual Mardi Gras parade is scheduled for 2 p.m. this afternoon in Pass Christian.

The Pass parade travels the Scenic Drive along US-90.

On Mardi Gras Day, festivities begin in Bay St. Louis with the Krewe of Real People at 11:30 a.m.

The parade begins at Commerege Park on Bookter Street to Necaise Avenue, Necaise to Main Street; Main to Second Street; Second to Union Street; Union to Railroad Avenue; Railroad to Sycamore Street; Sycamore to Old Spanish Trail; Old Spanish Trail to the beginning.

The Krewe of Triton rolls at 2 p.m. on Mardi Gras. The parade begins at Our Shopping Center on US-90 at 2 p.m. in Waveland and travels east on 90 to Dunbar Avenue in Bay St. Louis.

We hope everyone will enjoy the parades of their choice.

See you at the parades.

It is good to see our new hospital now open and in operation.

The move of patients was made last Monday with help from Keesler Air Force Base and Mobile Medical Ambulance Service.

Many of Hancock General's employees volunteered many long hours helping get their respective sections ready for the arrival of patients at the brand new Hancock Medical Center on Drinkwater Road.

A new hospital in Hancock County is something which was in the planning stages for many years and now is a reality.

It is our understanding a grand opening will be scheduled for a later date.

The recent rains have been playing havoc with our roads in the area.

Potholes are cropping up all over the place, and it is too wet to repair them.

Shoulders of roads are very soft and are places motorists can usually drive on, but they are now places where one will need a wrecker to get pulled from.

Motorists should now drive with extreme caution, especially on roads with water standing on them.

Dry weather will be welcomed by many people.

If you are looking for good news you might want to listen to comments coming out of the nation's capital.

Both business and government leaders are cautiously optimistic about the economy in Washington, with both groups expecting slow but sure economic improvements this year.

That was the message conveyed to members of the Mississippi Economic Council who received a series of economic and political briefings in Washington a few days ago.

Information supplied to the Mississippi business group came from the White House, from the Kiplinger business publications headquarters, from the state's Congressional delegation, and from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

The outlook for 1987 included these projections of particular interest to Mississippi:

—The economy should grow by about three percent this year and by about the same percentage in 1988.

—The worst of the farm crisis is behind us, even though the improvement may not have reached all Mississippi farmers yet.

—Farm foreclosures are on the way down.

—Farm land values are on the way up.

—Export markets are expanding, opening new possibilities for Mississippi products.

Government spending was down in 1986 as compared to 1985.

—And, President Reagan intends to hold the line against any tax increase.

Being realistic about the economy, the White House acknowledged that it is concerned that economic improvement may not have reached all America, including Mississippi, yet.

There is hope, however, that improvements are just around the corner.

Housekeeping

Weekly Summary

from

Mississippi House of Representatives

By Andrew Reese,
House Information Officer

The 1987 legislative session has passed the midway point with members of the House of Representatives continuing to struggle with state budget problems, highways, and other vital issues.

Money matters bounced back into the forefront over the past week as the first large batch of appropriation bills won House approval, providing funds to operate state agencies and departments in the coming year. In most instances, the allocations were held at or near the amounts recommended by the Joint Legislative Budget Committee.

Meanwhile, alternative revenue bills were awaiting consideration before the Ways and Means Committee at the close of the past week. Among the items being discussed were proposals to raise the state income tax or boost the sales tax by one percent.

One of the most important chores of any session is the allocation of operating funds for schools, universities, prison facilities, mental health institutions and other programs. The job has been especially tough in recent years because of revenue problems that have hounded Mississippi as well as other states.

Lawmakers face another curial deadline this week, as Thursday (Feb. 26) is the last day for original floor action by the House and Senate on appropriations and revenue bills.

The cutoff, which does not apply to money bills previously passed by the opposite chamber, is part of the legislative timetable to help expedite the flow of bills and enable the session to end by April 5 as scheduled. Last Thursday, Feb. 19, was the 45th day of the 90-day session.

In addition to several appropriation bills, the House gave overwhelming approval last week to a proposed Bond Refinancing Act aimed at helping county and municipal governments. The measure, which still faces Senate action, would give local governing boards the authority to refinance bond issues in order to take advantage of lower interest rates. It would only apply if the refunding would result in a savings of 2 percent or more. There were no dissenting votes on the bill.

Other legislation winning House approval in the past week included:

—A bill providing for counties to pay for the initial medical examination in cases of rape or sexual battery if requested by the victim and approved by the district attorney. The person accused of the crime, if convicted, would be ordered to repay the county for the medical exam.

—A measure to clarify several provisions of the Uniform School Law. The bill makes a number of technical revisions but does not involve major, substantive changes in the 1986 law.

—A bill to provide a procedure for citizens to contest the disqualification of signatures on petitions requesting a local referendum on public issues. The measure includes a requirement that a list of disqualified names, and the reason for disqualification, be posted at the courthouse or city hall.

—A resolution commemorating the U.S. Marines who fought and died at Iwo Jima during the historic World War II battle in February 1945.

The initial series of appropriation bills winning House passage included $64.5 million for Homestead Exemption reimbursement payments in the coming year; $27.7 million in special funds for the Veterans' Farm Home Board; and a special fund allocation of $4.3 million for the Public Service Commission.

In a preliminary "test" vote last week, the House agreed to take a hold-the-line stand on salaries for state employees in view of the state's tight money situation. Many legislators indicated they would like to see state employees get a pay raise but simply didn't believe the money was in sight at the time. Last week's action would not preclude a salary hike later if additional revenue sources are found.

Efforts also continued last week to iron out legislative differences on a highway construction program.

Submitted by Representative Walter James Phillips.

Coalition blasts House leaders for stalling on convention bill

"The Old Guard is trying to destroy democracy in the state House of Representatives," according to a coalition of groups supporting a referendum on a constitutional convention.

Denouncing the House Constitution Committee and Speaker Buddie Newman for avoiding the constitutional convention bill by "stalling tactics" were Common Cause/Mississippi, the League of Women Voters of Mississippi, Mississippi 2001, and the state division of the American Association of University Women.

Common Cause state president Paul M. Neville charged that the committee and Newman are "thwarting the will of the people," citing several polls that reveal overwhelming support for a constitutional convention. Neville said they are also "thwarting the will of the Legislature, as it is now clear that a majority of the House would vote for the bill to let the people decide whether they want a constitutional convention." He added, "Is crushing the constitution bill Buddie Newman's revenge for the new House rules?"

Vivian P. Sorrells, state president of the League of Women Voters, said, "The only issue is whether the House will give people the opportunity to vote on a constitutional convention." She added, "Responsible government should be responsive to the will of the people."

The House Constitution Committee has until next Tuesday to act on a Senate-passed bill providing for a referendum on the constitutional convention.

Washington Street resident concerned about big rig trucks damaging homes

The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Editor:

Washington Street was not constructed or prepared for big rig trucks.

There is little or no foundation under the black top except maybe oyster shells.

On Wednesday, Jan. 23, the city workers were, no doubt, instructed to and did, in fact, paint yellow lines down the center of the street.

Whatever for? The 18-wheelers straddle the line as though it were a one-way street! It is obvious to everyone that Washington Street is simply too narrow for this purpose.

Enough said about the street itself for now. Let's turn to the question of what lies ahead for the homeowners' property in approximately 15 to 20 years.

Each time an 18-wheeler passes, the homes vibrate. This vibration can be felt even with a concrete foundation. If there hasn't been an environmental impact study, there should be one conducted.

The residents of this area are not wealthy. Damage to anyone's home, wealthy or otherwise, is unwelcome, and damage to Washington Street's residents is even more unwelcome, especially when it can be avoided.

Perhaps they (the residents) are afraid to voice their opinions on the matter, however, I feel it is now time that something be said in their behalf. I wonder just who is looking out for their welfare? Is that not what the City Council and Planning Commission are for? Isn't there anyone in high places aware of the problem and if so, doesn't he or she have a conscience?

Living on Washington Street is like living on the interstate! Would you want to live there? Think about it!

Wife of military retiree worried about number of benefit cuts

Dear Editor:

One of the main things that encouraged military personnel in the past years to stay for 20 years and then retire was the promise of using the military hospitals for the retiree and their dependent or dependents after retirement.

This was the main thing that I am sure many others as well as my husband took into consideration when deciding to make the military his career for 20 years.

Benefits, benefits, benefits! What does that mean now? Seems like more and more we are hearing of cuts, cuts, cuts.

In times of need so much is promised. After using up the most productive years of one's life and retirement comes about, the promises that were made years before seem to be getting put by the wayside slowly but surely.

I wonder if the following things have been taken into consideration or if those in the decision making seats even care, but:

1) How many hours over an eight-hour working day has a retiree put in without overtime pay?

2) How many hours, days, weeks, months and years has a military person spent away from his family? (Compare what a military person received for hazardous duty pay to what a civilian makes working away from their families? No comparison)

3) A military person is on call 24 hours of a day—if called back to the base could be sent any place needed which could mean losing their life for their country.

I, like many, many thousands and thousands of other military wives of retirees know what it feels like to be separated from my husband and the father of my children for long periods of time, to be both mother and father while Dad is away helping to keep our great America free and the best and greatest place on earth to live, to receive letters counting the days off till we would all be together again (the count would start up in the hundreds and slowly but daily would count down until the happiest day would arrive and the children and I would all be standing on the pier watching "Daddy's" ship come in and we would all be together again).

Being a military wife was the greatest. It was not the easiest by far.

It takes special people to withstand the problems that come about:

1) Raising children (we raised five).

2) Learning to crawl under a car and do the best you can to either fix it or have your friends help you because you still have a week and a half to go till payday and not enough money to put it in a shop.

3) Husbands waiting anxiously overseas and wives waiting anxiously at home for their mail as that is the closest they are going to get to each other for a long, long time.

Husbands overseas knowing that they are not in a position to help their families in any way that they may be needed.

Those are just a couple of things. The long, lonely times apart - the holidays when everyone is with their families - the times when the babies are born and the dads may not see them till they are almost a year old. Seems to me that retirees count.

How can the power think of either slowly taking away what little benefits they (retirees) have or charge them or their wives or dependents for the benefits that they surely earned.

Believe me - it is definitely not charity. In plain words "Retirees and their families damn well earned any and all benefits they are supposed to have."

If the power wants to change any of the benefits then why don't they start with announcing it to those in the military now and to those entering the military from here on. This way the decision of staying in or getting out will be theirs knowing ahead of time that there will be little or no benefits at all.

But, encouraging personnel to stay for 20 or more and retiring with benefits, then taking the benefits away slowly or charging for the benefits that are rightfully theirs is wrong.

How fair is it to take away from the retiree and have the senators and representatives receive a 15.5 percent raise, senate president pro tem and House and Senate majority and minority leaders a 13.8 percent raise, vice president and House speaker 14.9 percent raise, Supreme Court associate justices 2.6 percent raise, District and Tax Court judges 10.4 percent raise, Cabinet secretaries 12.5 percent raise, deputy secretaries and agency heads 15.6 percent, undersecretaries and chairmen of regulatory commission 8.8 percent raise, assistant secretaries and members of regulatory commissions 4.0 percent raise?

I believe it is time that all of us get busy and write letters to G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery, Thad Cochran, Trent Lott, John Stennis, President Ronald Reagan.

This is a great country we live in. We have the military people to thank for keeping us free. They have in the past, they are now, and shall be in the future be willing to keep this great America, the land of the free and the home of the brave. We should remember this and give to those who serve and have retired from serving—not take from them or even think of taking from them.

Thank you.

State consumer protection division files year-end report

The Consumer Protection Division of Attorney General Ed Pittman's office returned almost $2 million to Mississippi Consumers during 1986, according to a report released by Special Assistant Attorney General Al Nuzzo, head of the division.

The $1,948,839 recovered in 1986 is larger than the total recoveries made by the division in the first nine years of its 12 year existence, Nuzzo said. The figure also represents $9.50 returned to consumers for every one dollar of tax money spent by the division.

"In 1986, the Legislature appropriated $300,000 for the division," Nuzzo said, "after a lengthy discussion about cutting the budget by killing the division. We were able to show them that we returned more than five dollars for every dollar spent in 1986; now that figure has risen to $9.50."

During the three years of Pittman's tenure as attorney general, the division has recovered more than $15 million for consumers. This is more than two and one-half times the amount recovered in the first nine years of the division's existence.

The recovery figure includes cash returned to the consumer, sales contracts cancelled because of faulty or unsatisfactory merchandise or fraudulent sales tactics.

The figure also includes the price of merchandise ordered and paid for by consumers which was not delivered until the division intervened at the consumer's request.

Nuzzo said the division had 2,665 written complaints, over 14,500 telephone inquiries and 1,013 walk-ins to the North State Street office in 1986.

Major Investigations

1. Odometer Rollbacks
The Consumer Protection Division concluded its first-ever odometer rollback investigation in 1986. By the end of the year, over $45,000 in damages and civil penalties had been collected.

2. Missing Children Search and Rescue Center
The division investigated Marvin Flowers who was soliciting donations for the purpose of locating missing children. Our investigation revealed that Flowers misrepresented his official affiliation with several local, state and national organizations as well as misrepresenting the non-profit status of his organization.

Pursuant to the investigation, an Assurance of Voluntary Compliance was obtained whereby Flowers agreed to cease and desist from soliciting funds and operating his organization in Mississippi. In addition, all assets of the organization were frozen.

3. Truman Brinkley Builders
The division obtained a permanent injunction against a Brandon businessman who contracted with 244 consumers to deliver portable storage buildings pursuant to a prepaid contract. Brinkley left the state without delivering a single storage building. The Court froze approximately $7,500.00 in assets which our office disbursed on a pro-rata basis to all eligible consumers.

4. Gulf Port Tool Company
Our office obtained a permanent injunction against a California-based company selling defective paint sprayers in Mississippi. The company engaged in false and misleading advertising of the product which experts concluded was also a serious safety hazard. Based upon information supplied by our office, three company representatives were arrested on criminal charges in New Iberia, La.

5. Money Line
Richard Miranov, d/b/a Money Line, entered into a Assurance of Voluntary Compliance with our office whereby he agreed to cease doing business and to fully refund 80 consumers their $25.00 payment. Miranov advertised that he would, for a $25.00 fee, guarantee loans to persons with bad credit, regardless of their income level or employment status. Miranov, however, did not actually obtain a loan for consumers but merely provided them with general information on how to obtain a loan.

6. Sunbelt Publishing d/b/a Citizens Against Drugs

This organization has solicited individuals for "donations" for the purpose of defraying the distribution costs of a booklet designed to educate children on the perils of drug abuse. Our investigation has revealed the following:

A. Sunbelt was not organized as a charitable organization and, therefore, any "donation" was not tax deductible to the contributor.

B. Sunbelt misrepresented its official association with various local, state and federal organizations.

C. The booklets to be produced by Sunbelt were available free through the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA).

Our investigation into this organization is continuing.

Legislation

In 1986, the Consumer Protection Division sponsored two pieces of legislation which were eventually passed into law. One bill required that odometer mileage must appear on the face of all Certificates of Title issued on or after Jan. 1, 1987.

The second piece of legislation, a bill relating to price gouging, would regulate the price of consumer goods following the declaration of a natural disaster in Mississippi.

For 1987, our division is sponsoring two major pieces of legislation. The first bill would regulate charitable solicitations and charitable trusts while the second would regulate the sale of timeshare units in Mississippi.

'Speaking Oracles of God'

—1 Peter 4:11

By W. Edwin Kearley, Minister

THE STATE OF DEGRADATION

Peter wrote about those "Having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: a heart they have exercised with covetous practices; cursed children: which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of Balaam the son of Bosor, who loved the wage of unrighteousness." (II Peter 2:14-15)

There is a school of thought which teaches we should not speak or write negatively. Evidently the Holy Spirit, who inspired the New Testament writers, did not accept this philosophy. There is always the danger of going to either extreme. We need to strive for a proper balance. When evil raises its ugly head, it must be opposed.

"We live in a day when many think good is evil and evil is good. The prophet Isaiah warned Judah, 'Woe unto them that call evil good and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter! Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight.'" (Isaiah 5:20)

Today we have reached the state of depravity that some men and women freely and openly admit to adultery in print and television. This is done because the foes of righteousness have gained power to the point they can laugh and ridicule God's standard of righteousness. Under the guise of "freedom of speech" and "adult consent" principles of a decent society have been suppressed by the legislative and judicial systems of the land.

Israel, reared in the luxury of their time, they forgot God. Amos, the prophet of God, wrote, "Woe to them that are at ease in Zion...that lie upon beds of ivory, and stretch themselves upon their couches and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall." (Amos 6:1-4)

God had warned Israel concerning the consequences of their disobedience.

Among other things he said, "And thou shalt become an astonishment, a proverb, and a byword, among all nations whither the Lord shall lead thee." (Deuteronomy 28:37) In time they did sin.

They forgot God. When their rebellion became too great God allowed them to be carried away into Assyrian and Babylonian captivity. Only a remnant was allowed to return from Babylonian captivity. For centuries they have been a "hiss and a byword." We cannot condone such because it is not in keeping with principle of Christianity. Nevertheless the practice exists just as God said.

Today those who thumb their nose to God and his word will reap what they sow. Paul wrote, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption..." (Galatians 6:7-8)

Though one must experience the consequences of his sin here on the earth, there is no need to continue in sin and also lose his eternal soul. Therefore we plead for a return to God and his righteousness. Read and study God's word. Let it produce faith in God. Become a follower of God's Son. Become obedient to his gospel and let the Lord add you to his church.

KING'S SINGERS
It's a night of music March 7 on Mississippi ETV. The King's Singers, Arlo Guthrie, Johnny Cash with the Carter Family and a half hour of music from Nashville's songwriters make up the evening's schedule.

The "On Stage at Wolf Trap" series presents the King's Singers in concert. The six-member British group is known for its remarkable a cappella harmonies. Considered to have one of the most diverse repertoires of any vocal group worldwide, the ensemble's talents range from folk music in various languages to the Beatles.

Folk singer Arlo Guthrie takes center stage with friends Pete Seeger, David Bromberg, Bonnie Raitt and Jerry Jeff Walker for a folk-style jamboree on "The Arlo Guthrie Show" at 8.

This special 90-minute program is part of "Festival '87," a period of programming on public television designed to increase viewer awareness and support.

Performing from Austin, Texas, Guthrie starts the show with "The City of New Orleans" and follows with "Inch by Inch" and "Oh, Mom." This program will be simultaneously broadcast with Public Radio in Mississippi (PRM).

On "Austin City Limits" at 9:30, Johnny Cash is the headliner along with June Carter Cash and the Carter family. Cash standards as well as lesser known works comprise this concert.

And, the weekly series "Country Express" continues with more Nashville sound at 10:30.

Pilgrimage season begins in March

Webster's Dictionary defines a pilgrimage as 'a journey by a pilgrim,' and a pilgrim as 'one who travels to a shrine or holy place as a devotee.'

The shrines and holy places of the Middle East are in no way similar to the historic structures found in Mississippi, but to aficionados of America's past, the magnificent homes of Natchez and other towns serve as a mecca for thousands of tourists who annually include Mississippi Pilgrimage in their vacation plans.

The idea of a pilgrimage in America began in Mississippi during a state garden club meeting in 1932 when a group of Natchez citizens opened their pre-Civil War homes for tour in conjunction with a scheduled tour of gardens. That concept of extended hospitality over 50 years ago has proven so successful that Natchez now hosts Spring and Fall pilgrimages and other Mississippi towns from Yazoo City to Aberdeen have established pilgrimages of their own. The idea has spread to communities all across America.

Mississippi's Pilgrimage Season begins in early Spring with the opening of the Natchez Pilgrimage March 7. Most pilgrimages are held over a weekend, but the length varies from one day in Kosciusko to five weeks in Natchez. The Spring season ends the last weekend in April with pilgrimages in Holly Springs and Lawrence County.

Observant visitors touring the antebellum mansions will notice that all are not alike. The architecture varies from town to town and within individual communities, making each of the tours unique. Historic designers were influenced by different eras, personalities, terrain, climate, social conditions, political influences, and materials.

For example, Columbus offers town houses and plantation mansions; Holly Springs abounds in ornate houses trimmed in ironwork from a local foundry; Gulf Coast antebellum homes are raised to allow cool ocean breezes to flow underneath and to protect residents from 'diseases' in the ground and from high water.

Natchez has homes which developed in three different eras before the Civil War: Spanish rule, British rule, and the King Cotton period. Several hundred antebellum structures remain today with approximately 30 homes open during the Spring and Fall pilgrimages.

Pilgrimage homes throughout the state are richly furnished with period antiques. These homes were usually built by extremely wealthy men who often imported elaborate trimmings and commissioned some of the world's best architects to design their dwellings.

Although most Mississippi communities feature antebellum (pre-1860) homes during pilgrimage, some highlight other periods of the state's rich history. For instance, Lawrence County's tour includes rustic pioneer structures while Kosciusko's focuses on Victorian homes. On the Gulf Coast, modern technology is represented as well with a tour of the National Space Technology Laboratories in addition to garden and home tours.

Enhancing the tours of homes in each area are other activities, ranging from arts and crafts shows to living history demonstrations to elaborate plays and pageants. In any community, visitors will find that Southern hospitality keynotes all events.

Mississippi Pilgrimage towns and dates for 1987 are: Aberdeen, April 10-12; Columbus, April 1-12; Gulf Coast, March 22-April 4; Holly Springs, April 24-26; Kosciusko, April 4; Lawrence County, April 24-26; Natchez, March 7-April 11 and October 3-17; Port Gibson, April 11-12; Vicksburg, March 21-April 5; and Yazoo City, April 9-11.

For a free travel guide listing details about Mississippi's Spring pilgrimages, contact the Mississippi Division of Tourism, Department of Economic Development, P. O. Box 22225, Jackson, Ms. 39205.

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND ANTHONY COCCO

Cocco-Longo

Christine Elizabeth Longo and Raymond Anthony Cocco exchanged wedding vows February 14 in an afternoon ceremony at Our Lady of The Gulf Catholic Church. Celebrating a Nuptial Mass were the Reverend Henry McInerney of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Biloxi and the Reverend Bruce Krause of St. Michael's in Auburn, Ala.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Longo Jr. of Waveland. The groom's parents are Mrs. Joan V. Cocco of Clearwater, Fla. and Mr. Anthony Cocco of Lynhurst, N.J.

Decorating the sanctuary were standing baskets of white gladioli and red roses with palm greenery.

Readings from scripture were rendered by Mr. Emil Grutowski of Clearwater, uncle of the groom, and Mrs. Gen Cassidy of Waveland. Offertory gift bearers were Mr. Leo Trahan of Pascagoula, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Christina Longo of Waveland, sister-in-law of the bride.

Musical selections were presented by Mrs. John McKenna, organist, and soloists Mr. Douglas Gleber of Bay St. Louis, Carrie Smith of Muscle Shoals, Ala. and Luz Sabillon of Honduras.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk taffeta with portrait neckline, double-puffed sleeves accentuated with self-roses, and fitted basque bodice applique with pearl decorated Venice lace. The full skirt with lace applique overlay was caught up with self-roses in a scalloped effect near the full ruffled hemline and featured a bow at the back waist. The train extended to chapel length.

She wore a contour wreath headpiece with pearl sprays which held a tiered veil of illusion.

The bride carried a cascade of white silk roses and white blossom spray with red rosebuds, seed pearls, jubilee gyp and picot ribbon. Laurie Tanner of Bay St. Louis was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Christy Gleber of Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Ellen Cocco Singer of Clearwater, sister of the groom; Mrs. Deborah Longo Collins of Biloxi, and Mrs. Gail Longo Trahan of Pascagoula, sisters of the bride.

The attendants were identically attired in formal gowns of white taffeta, each with sweetheart neckline, full puffed sleeves and red cummerbund marking the fitted slightly basque waist with bow at the back, above a full circular skirt.

They carried small clutch bouquets of red sweetheart roses and jubilee gyp.

Flower girl was Miss Emily Collins of Biloxi, niece of the bride. She wore a white taffeta dress accented with a red taffeta sash at the waist.

Ed Zieck of Clearwater, grandfather of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Joe Wilson of Mobile, Ala.; Paul Singer of Clearwater; Bill Heise of Auburn; and Ray Martin of Tallahassee, Fla.

Serving as ushers were John Thomas Longo and Steven M. Longo of Waveland and Theodore J. Longo of Biloxi, all brothers of the bride. Ring bearers were Christopher Collins of Biloxi and Andrew Trahan of Pascagoula, nephews of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony at St. Clare parish hall.

Guest register attendant was Meaghan Paduch of Hasbrouck Heights, N.J. Assisting at the cake table were Mrs. Helen Crump Brown of Starkville, Miss., aunt of the bride; and Mrs. Donna Brown South of Panama City, Fla., cousin of the bride. Others assisting were Mrs. Gen Cassidy, Mrs. Ethel Schott and Carrie Smith of Waveland and Luz Sabillon.

On return from a wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico and the Yucatan, the couple resides in Auburn.

PILGRIMAGE TOUR—Among the Bay St. Louis and Waveland homes scheduled for the 40th Annual Spring Pilgrimage on April 2 will be the residence of Dr. Larry Heller and Lawrence Timmerman, 341 Main St., Bay St. Louis. This is one of four plain cottages, two on each side of the street, built in the 1840's, which were probably alike. Changes were made prior to the War Between the

States. The present owners have restored and furnished this cottage to as near as to the original as possible. Some 13 places of interest in Bay St. Louis and Waveland will be open to the public during the Pilgrimage sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs. Slidell Memorial schedules classes for toilet teaching

The Parenting Center of Slidell Memorial Hospital is sponsoring a "Toilet Teaching" class for parents of young children. The class will be held on Thursday, March 12 at 7 p.m. in the Education Classroom, second floor of the hospital.

"Toilet Teaching" is designed to help parents relax about this often difficult time in their child's life. The course is taught by Jeanne McCollum, BSEd., who will help parents avoid turning toilet teaching into a struggle.

McCollum says parents generally try to teach children this skill before they are ready. Generally, she says, children aren't ready to begin toilet teaching before two-and-a-half to three years old.

The class will help receive the stress many parents feel about this part of their children's growth, while giving them concrete information about methods of teaching that work.

For information or to register for the Toilet Teaching class, call the Parenting Center at 643-2200, ext. 446 or 492.

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND ANTHONY COCCO

Cocco-Longo

Christine Elizabeth Longo and Raymond Anthony Cocco exchanged wedding vows February 14 in an afternoon ceremony at Our Lady of The Gulf Catholic Church. Celebrating a Nuptial Mass were the Reverend Henry McInerney of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Biloxi and the Reverend Bruce Krause of St. Michael's in Auburn, Ala.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Longo Jr. of Waveland. The groom's parents are Mrs. Joan V. Cocco of Clearwater, Fla. and Mr. Anthony Cocco of Lynhurst, N.J.

Decorating the sanctuary were standing baskets of white gladioli and red roses with palm greenery.

Readings from scripture were rendered by Mr. Emil Gutowski of Clearwater, uncle of the groom, and Mrs. Gen Cassidy of Waveland. Offertory gift bearers were Mr. Leo Trahan of Pascagoula, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Christina Longo of Waveland, sister-in-law of the bride.

Musical selections were presented by Mrs. John McKenna, organist, and soloists Mr. Douglas Gleber of Bay St. Louis, Carrie Smith of Muscle Shoals, Ala. and Luz Sabillon of Honduras.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk taffeta with portrait neckline, double-puffed sleeves accentuated with self-roses, and fitted basque bodice applied with pearl decorated Venice lace. The full skirt with lace applied overlay was caught up with self-roses in a scalloped effect near the full ruffled hemline and featured a bow at the back waist. The train extended to chapel length.

She wore a contour wreath headpiece with pearl sprays which held a tiered veil of illusion.

The bride carried a cascade of white silk roses and white blossom spray with red rosebuds, seed pearls, jubilee gyp and picot ribbon. Laurie Tanner of Bay St. Louis was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Christy Gleber of Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Ellen Cocco Singer of Clearwater, sister of the groom; Mrs. Deborah Longo Collins of Biloxi, and Mrs. Gail Longo Trahan of Pascagoula, sisters of the bride.

The attendants were identically attired in formal gowns of white taffeta, each with sweetheart neckline, full puffed sleeves and red cummerbund marking the fitted slightly basque waist with bow at the back, above a full circular skirt.

They carried small clutch bouquets of red sweetheart roses and jubilee gyp.

Flower girl was Miss Emily Collins of Biloxi, niece of the bride. She wore a white taffeta dress accented with a red taffeta sash at the waist. Ed Zieck of Clearwater, grandfather of the groom, was best man.

Groomsmen were Joe Wilson of Mobile, Ala.; Paul Singer of Clearwater; Bill Heise of Auburn; and Ray Martin of Tallahassee, Fla.

Serving as ushers were John Thomas Longo and Steven M. Longo of Waveland and Theodore J. Longo of Biloxi, all brothers of the bride.

Ring bearers were Christopher Collins of Biloxi and Andrew Trahan of Pascagoula, nephews of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony at St. Clare parish hall.

Guest register attendant was Meghan Paduch of Hasbrouck Heights, N.J. Assisting at the cake table were Mrs. Helen Crump Brown of Starkville, Miss., aunt of the bride; and Mrs. Donna Brown South of Panama City, Fla., cousin of the bride. Others assisting were Mrs. Gen Cassidy, Mrs. Ethel Schott and Carrie Smith of Waveland and Luz Sabillon.

On return from a wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico and the Yucatan, the couple resides in Auburn.

PILGRIMAGE TOUR—Among the Bay St. Louis and Waveland homes scheduled for the 40th Annual Spring Pilgrimage on April 2 will be the residence of Dr. Larry Heller and Lawrence Timmerman, 341 Main St., Bay St. Louis. This is one of four plain cottages, two on each side of the street, built in the 1840's, which were probably alike. Changes were made prior to the War Between the

States. The present owners have restored and furnished this cottage to as near as to the original as possible. Some 13 places of interest in Bay St. Louis and Waveland will be open to the public during the Pilgrimage sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs. Slidell Memorial schedules classes for toilet teaching

The Parenting Center of Slidell Memorial Hospital is sponsoring a "Toilet Teaching" class for parents of young children. The class will be held on Thursday, March 12 at 7 p.m. in the Education Classroom, second floor of the hospital.

"Toilet Teaching" is designed to help parents relax about this often difficult time in their child's life. The course is taught by Jeanne McCollum, BSEd., who will help parents avoid turning toilet teaching into a struggle.

McCollum says parents generally try to teach children this skill before they are ready. Generally, she says, children aren't ready to begin toilet teaching before two-and-a-half to three years old.

The class will help receive the stress many parents feel about this part of their children's growth, while giving them concrete information about methods of teaching that work.

For information or to register for the Toilet Teaching class, call the Parenting Center at 643-2200, ext. 446 or 492.

Future Homemakers of America and HNC Elementary PTO

The Future Homemakers of America and the Hancock North Central Elementary School's PTO have emphasized Teacher Appreciation Week at the school.

On Monday every teacher was given either a corsage or a boutonniere. Needless to say, everyone felt elegant.

On Tuesday, a huge King Cake was placed in each teachers' lounge and large, red apples were given to each teacher.

On Wednesday, by formal invitation, the FHA and Elementary PTO invited each teacher to a reception in the Home Economics room. Each teacher also received balloons saying, "Thanks."

Mrs. Sandra Adams is the high school's home economics teacher and the advisor to the FHA. Mrs. Diane Sones is the president of the Elementary PTO.

The teachers were pleased with such attention and sincerely thanked each group.
